

Pennsylvania Dressage Barn Brings Home The Gold

Pamela Thompson of Hy-Hope Stables in Cochranville, Pennsylvania recently came home from the Region 15 Championships with no less than eight Championship or Reserve Championship ribbons to her credit.

Pam rode EA Collateral to the Training Level Championship, Bae Wind to the First Level Championship and EA Collateral to Reserve Champion at First Level at Region 15 in July.

Bae Wind also took home top five honors at Second Level.

These classes were large and the quality of riders were impressive.

The recent East Coast Show was even more impressive.

EA Collateral was Champion at both Training and First Level, Bae Wind was Reserve

Champion at First and Champion at Second Level, and WF Mystic Magidaa went Reserve Champion at Training Level in spite of the fact that this was her first dressage show with such heavy competition.

Shahwaney River also impressed the judges in the pre-show, and in spite of this being his first large competition he and Pam brought home two blue ribbons and had the highest score of the day.

The level of competition at the East Coast this year was extremely high, and with eighty rides, one of the largest ever in this area.

Pam Thompson proved to all that though she may not be the largest dressage trainer around, she is not letting any grass grow under her feet.
